Subject: Incident on the Fredd Campus - READ TO ALL CLASSES

This morning, the college community was stunned by the violent shooting of one of our students in a classroom at our C. A. Fredd Campus. The student who was shot was transferred by ambulance to the hospital and it is our understanding will be released tomorrow morning. We can be very thankful that the seriousness of the injury was limited and that the student will soon recover completely.

The trauma of this event may require some of us to seek counseling services available through the College. You may reach the Counseling Center by calling Dr. Randy Jarrell at 391-2231. Also, a counselor will be available on the Fredd Campus throughout the week to help students and staff cope during this difficult time.

I commend the faculty, staff and administrators who were involved in handling this dangerous and life-threatening situation. Their actions resulted in immediate medical attention for the student and police assistance.

Classes at the Fredd Campus resumed within the hour and will meet as scheduled.
